

The Rowlett Rutland story

60 years ago, Rowlett produced its first commercial toaster. Today, the company is a premier supplier of superior catering equipment for hotels, restaurants, bars and high volume food outlets worldwide.

Rowlett Rutland's reputation is built on the hallmarks of craftsmanship, durability and stylish design. Every machine we manufacture is assembled by hand and comes with a generous warranty. This, together with outstanding reliability, means that demand for our equipment continues to grow from new and existing sources.

In search of perfection, we continuously update our products and use the latest technology and ergonomic design to enable top chefs to serve up delicious food time and again.
